ESC

Times have changed.
have your financial systems?

The Enterprise Services Center of the Department of Transportation provides government entities like yours a suite of integrated tools and services to master your financial data and processes. Utilizing commercially available software systems, ESC provides 24/7 access to secure, accurate financial and accounting information.

Here are just a few of the reasons why 20 government agencies, including all DOT agencies and more than 2,000 end users, depend on ESC to handle some or all aspects of their financial management needs:

- Enjoy a cost-effective and predictable financial system with access to the best financial practices.

- Receive software upgrades that keep pace with ever-emerging government-wide regulations.

- Focus on core competencies by outsourcing accounting and financial functions to ESC with a performance-based contract.

- All agencies using ESC's services have earned clean audit opinions.

- Rely on our professional staff with expertise in data mapping, conversion, configuration, set-up and training.

- Operate under a secure system that is the federal model for information systems security.

- ESC to date has submitted all financial statements on time.

Enterprise Solutions

ESC's Web-based financial software includes a wide range of mandatory reports, federal financial statements, treasury reports and other regularly used forms. This commercially developed off-the-shelf financial management system allows all agencies to run the same application. ESC assesses an organization, installs and hosts the software, trains the organization's employees to use the software and then provides many levels of support on an ongoing basis.

Fifteen government agencies are currently running their accounting through the Internet on this system. The software is backed by a support center of accounting professionals. An advisory board also provides input for future enhancements.

Accounting Services

Discover ESC's Accounting Services, a unique group of professionals that provides outsourced accounting services such as preparation of financial statements, accounts payable, accounts receivable, asset management and inventory, and reporting. Our customers, which include the Department of Education as well as many Department of Transportation agencies, appreciate our record of submitting all financial statements 100 percent on time.

Data Center Services

ESC's Data Center Services provides hosting, telecommunications, information systems security and end user support. It is located at the Mike Monroney Aeronautical Center in Oklahoma City, a USDOT-certified secure facility.

Hosting services include: server platforms; system design, sizing and acquisition; system and database administration; and disaster recovery.

Information systems security provides customers with redundant firewall-protected access and automated intrusion detection. Data Center Services prides itself on mitigating 100 percent of security vulnerabilities and resolving end user problems during a customer's initial call 95 percent of the time.

In the 1980s, the Department of Transportation dedicated resources to create an unparalleled team of professionals dedicated to supporting the diverse accounting and financial needs of its various agencies. Today called the Enterprise Services Center, this group has assisted numerous agencies with their enterprise software, accounting and data center needs.

ESC is the provider of choice because we take the time to learn customers' business processes and requirements. We establish expectations and service levels with our customers and use the information we gather to develop an appropriate integration strategy for each customer. We also avoid system customizations, which can become a hassle to our customers, through configurations and extensions.
